Gogledd Cymru

The conservation charity is welcoming additional volunteers to help with the environmental and educational activities of this; its coastal focused junior section.

Loosely based at the Marine Awareness kiosks on the Bangor Pier, the Marine WATCH group, for 4 to 16 year olds, provides activities that combine fun and education around the marine world. As the group's motto "Where the tide takes us" suggests, this includes many marine activities at varied locations. Sometimes this could be one of the many NWWT nature reserves, including Cemlyn host of the recent BBC SpringWatch. Volunteers are well supported by the friendly staff and guidance is always available from the national network. As appropriate for a leading youth organization volunteers receive ongoing training with many opportunities for skills development, and child welfare safety is paramount. Commitment for 1 day month is all that is required but volunteers who find they want to do more are able to do so! Marine WATCH is one of the many Wildlife WATCHES in the UK. With a combined UK membership of over 100,000 its popularity and success is apparent, and now we want you to become part of this success!

If you like to know more about being involved, help children to discover nature and help the environment, find out more on the NWWT website, www.northwaleswildlifetrust.org.uk or just come along to our WATCH Discovery Session on 24th October 2009 from 10am to 12pm at the Bangor office, Alternatively e-mail: resimat@wildlifetrustswales.org .
